The leadership has not only restructured operations but has also executed initiatives that have significantly enhanced the company's underlying asset base. As a result, the book value of our shares has substantially increased, restoring shareholder confidence and unlocking long-term growth potential.

Terminating the registration would prevent the realization of fair market value and eliminate our opportunity to recoup and grow the value of our investment in the public markets.

The path to compliance is underway, and shareholders should not be punished for legacy reporting lapses during a period of prior instability.
